THE decision of the Hongkong Chamber of Commerce in reference to the proposed legalisation of the Japanese yen in this Colony will take many people by surprise. It was not generally thought that any very strong feeling in favour of the step existed here among the mercantile community, but the result makes it evident that such must have been the case, for the resolution pledging the Chamber to memorialise the Government to of the house, named Fung Ayowon Tuesday and take steps to that end was carried with only one dissentient. It is probable that the day morning, when a cry of "save life" in a rapid and satisfactory development of trade between this Colony and Japan consequent door was fastened on the inside, but the partition steamers from here to Kobe and Yokohama by then discovered in a fearful state. Another cartridge was now taken and exploded with a detonator, the result being a short sharp roport similar to that made by a gills shot. One pound of ordinary gunpowder was now poured into an open box containing five pounds weight of dynamits in two ounce cartridges. On the powder being exploded with a fuse, the cartridges of dynamite were blown in all directions harmlessly as in the preceding oxperiments. Attention was now directed to some shear poles some thirty-five feet high, beneath which was placed a box containing twenty nounds of dynamite. At the top of the pole was suspended a 11 owt. pig of iron which was le fall by electricity on to the box of dynamite and crushed the box without causing any explosion. or even setting fire to the explosive. Tenpounds of lynamite were now exploded beneath a small raft laced a distance of some 200 yards from the shore the result being most satisfactory, forming a huge > column of water and fragments of the raft were sent flying high up into the air. Another te pound charge of dynamite was now exploded beeath the water causing a luge column to ascend to a height of some 150 feet, a large quantity of which descended like rain several hundred yards inland. Some dozens of fish were killed by these last two explosions, the fish being easily caught by the numerous boatmen who were on the 15 lbs. of strong blasting powder without igniting the dynamite, which was blown away as before. It being nownearly dark the experiments were brought to a close by exploding three pounds of dynamite by means of a detonator, which was followed by a loud report and the fracture of a ock on which the dynamite had been placed. From these experiments it is obvious that dynamie, like gun-cotton, and other similar substances, is harmless enough when burned in an open space where the gases resulting from its lecomposition have free vent to escape, but le the substance by placed in a confined space and the result is a powerful explosion. Where dynamite is required to be exploded beneath the earth or under conditions where it is not desired to place it in any vessel of some strong substance sufficient number of detenators must be used for the force of their explosion to come in .con tack with every particle of dynamite, or the result will be like that following the attempt to blow up the rocks yesterday-- a comparatively harmless explosion, the greater portion of the dynamite remaining unexploded. Had the detonators used yesterday been more powerful, or had the dynamite been placed in a stout iron drum, as in the case of a torpedo, the rocks would not only have been blown down but a considerable portion of the hill would have followed them. Mr. J. Reid, of Nobel's Explosives Company Limited, Glasgow, for whom the Borneo Co. are agents, conducted the several experiments with to have anything explained.
